

Instituto Nacional de Estadística

Help Legal warning

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

The National Institute of Statistics (INE) has created this website to provide users with access to statistical information and other informative content.

Contact the INE

The data included here comes from multiple sources; the INE makes this material available to interested parties for use as end users and whoever wishes to reuse any content on this website must abide by the provisions of section 5 of this legal notice.

Web map

Seeker

The intellectual property rights of this website, its graphic design and the codes it contains are owned by the INE, unless otherwise specifically indicated. All distinctive signs and marks are protected by law and their unauthorized use may lead to the exercise of the appropriate legal actions.

Legal warning

Safety notice

Quality of the information

Accessibility

The data and other materials that appear on this server have been entered following strict quality control procedures; However, errors may occur, so the figures offered on this site may in some cases not be correct. When the existence of erroneous data is observed, the INE proceeds to correct them immediately and warns users about the modification made to the most appropriate page for each case. However, the content of this web server cannot be guaranteed to be error-free. The user expressly agrees to be aware of this circumstance.

Statistical links

INE policy on Twitter

Privacy Policy

The INE reserves the right to make the appropriate changes without prior notice, in order to update, correct, add or modify the content hosted on this website or its design.

The use of the information contained in this website will be made by the users or reuse agents at their own risk and responsibility, corresponding exclusively to them to respond to third parties for damages that may arise from it.

Information availability

The INE cannot guarantee the operation of the communications network and therefore does not assume any responsibility for the availability of this server. The server may be disconnected without prior notice, although it will be tried that the scheduled maintenance tasks are carried out with the least possible impact and an attempt will be made to notify the time of their execution. The INE is not responsible for any loss or damage suffered by the user arising from access to this server or from the use of information or applications contained therein.

Use of cookies

This website may contain cookies or other means of a similar nature that allow or facilitate navigation and that in no case are used to identify the natural person using the website. For more information, you can consult the INE's privacy policy.

Establishment of hyperlinks

Users who intend to establish a hyperlink between their website and that of the INE must take the following into account:

- The web page on which the hyperlink is established may not contain any brand, name, logo, slogan or other distinctive signs belonging to the INE, except for those signs that are part of the same hyperlink.
- The web page on which the hyperlink is established will not contain information or illegal content, or contrary to any third party rights.
- The establishment of the hyperlink does not imply the existence of relations between the INE and the owner of the web page in which it is established, nor the acceptance or approval by the INE of its contents or services. Therefore, it will not be declared or implied that the INE has expressly authorized the hyperlink or that it supervises or assumes any of the services offered.
- The INE is not responsible for or guarantees the quality, accuracy, reliability, correctness or morality of the content or services of the page from which the hyperlink is established. The user assumes sole responsibility for the consequences, damages or actions that may arise from accessing the hyperlink's website.

Reuse of the information contained in this website

The information contained in this website comes from multiple sources, so the INE only authorizes the reuse of information whose original source is the INE itself. This reuse may have a commercial or non-commercial purpose and will always be carried out under the following general conditions:

- It is expressly forbidden to distort the meaning of the information.
- The source of the information to be reused must be cited. This appointment may be made as follows: Source: INE website: www.ine.es if no data processing is carried out or: Own elaboration with data extracted from the INE website: www.ine.es in the event that the data is processed.
- The date of the last update of the information to be reused should be mentioned, as long as it was included in the original.
- It may not be indicated, insinuated or suggested that the INE participates, sponsors or supports the reuse carried out with the information.
- The INE will not be responsible for the use that the reusing agents make of its information. Neither will it be responsible for material or data damage, nor for possible economic damages caused by the use of reused information.

This license of use is governed by Spanish laws regardless of the user's legal environment. Any dispute that may arise in the interpretation of this agreement will be resolved in the Spanish courts.

Any questions or comments about the content of this server should be directed to the General Sub-Directorate of Statistical Diffusion of the INE:

Inquiry form: www.ine.es/infoine , tlf: (+34) 91 583 91 00; fax: (+34) 91 583 91 58